

DIRECTIONS: read the book Race Car Count. Have your children go through the book and create their own game pieces based on the book. You can use the one my children created. Slip into large roll dice (check out blog for more info) or tape together your own dice.

Get 20 pieces of black construction paper and have children paint white dotted line on them. Allow them to arrange game pieces on the floor as they desire to create game board. Use cars they designed (get printable for cars here) as the game pieces.

Roll die and follow directions. Whoever reaches the last piece of construction paper first wins.

NEEDED: black construction paper, white paint, large dice with inserts, Race Car Counts, and cars created after reading book.
